(5) Every container at a service station shall be kept tightly closed when disconnected from the pumping-apparatus.

(6) Subregulations 1, 2, 3, and 4, shall apply to storage of empty containers except in so far as the operator of the service station has

- (a) from the Fire Marshal, or
- (b) from the Chief Officer of the Fire Department in the municipality concerned, written permission to store empty containers in quantities larger than, or places other than, those prescribed for full or partly filled containers by those four subregulations.

DISPENSING EQUIPMENT

67.(1) Except at a service station

- (b) for which electric power is not available, no clear-vision pump shall be used or installed at any service station.

(2) No fixed dispensing-equipment shall be installed within the service-station premises

- (a) at a distance less than 8 feet from the limit of any highway, or
- (b) inside any wholly enclosed part of a building.

(3) In subregulations 2 and 4, "wholly enclosed" includes having doors or other provision capable of impeding egress or ingress, or escape of fumes.

(4) Where a person operates a service station on the date on which these regulations come into force within which there is fixed dispensing-equipment installed inside any wholly enclosed part of a building, that person is exempted from the provisions of clause b of subregulation 2 with respect to that fixed dispensing-equipment so long as it remains in the same position as it is on that date.

(5) Petroleum products shall be transferred from the tanks or containers in which they are stored to the dispensing-equipment, only by means of pumping.

(6) Every electrically-operated pump shall have an easily accessible remote-control switch.

SCHEDULE 1

B. 6. CONTAINER VALVES AND ACCESSORIES

(d) Liquid level gauging devices which are so constructed that outward flow of container contents shall not exceed that passed by a No. 54 drill size opening, need not be equipped with excess flow valves.

(e) Openings from tank or through fittings attached directly on tank to which pressure gauge connection is made need not be equipped with shut-off or excess flow valves if such openings are restricted to not larger than No. 54 drill size opening.

2.6. INSTALLATION OF STORAGE CONTAINERS

(f) Containers with foundation attached (portable or semi-portable containers with suitable steel "runners" or "skids" and popularly known in the industry as "skid tanks") shall be designed, installed and used in accordance with these rules subject to the following provisions:

1. If they are to be used at a given general location for a temporary period not to exceed 6 months they need not have fire-resisting foundations or saddles but shall have adequate ferrous metal supports.

2. They shall not be located with the outside bottom of the container shell more than 5 ft. above the surface of the ground unless fire-resisting supports are provided.

3. The bottom of the skids shall be not less than 2 inches or more than 12 inches below the outside bottom of the container shell.

4. Flanges, nozzles, valves, fittings and the like, having communication with the interior of the container shall be protected against mechanical injury.

NOTE: It is recommended that such containers should have outlets only in the heads.

5. When not permanently located on fire-resisting foundations, piping connections shall be sufficiently flexible to minimize possibility of breakage or leakage of connections if container settles, moves, or is otherwise displaced.

6. Skids, or lugs for attachment of skids, shall be secured to container in accordance with the code or rules under which the container is designed and built (with a minimum factor of safety of four) to withstand loading in any direction equal to four times the weight of the container and attachments when filled to the maximum permissible loaded weight.

3.2. CONTAINER VALVES AND ACCESSORIES

(a) All valves shall be safeguarded against mechanical injury due to collision, overturning or other emergency.

(b) Filling connection shall be provided with approved automatic back-pressure check valves, excess-flow check valves or quick-closing internal valves to prevent excessive escape of gas in case the filling connection is broken, except that where the filling and discharge connect on a common opening in the container shell, and that opening is fitted with a quick-closing internal valve as specified in Sec. 3.2(c), the automatic valve shall not be required. In addition every inlet and outlet connection shall be equipped with a manually or automatically operated shut-off valve.

(c) All other connections to containers, except safety relief and liquid level gauge connections, shall be provided with suitable automatic excess flow valves, or in lieu thereof may be fitted with quick-closing internal valves, which, except during delivery operations, shall remain closed. The control mechanism for such valves may be provided with a secondary control remote from the delivery connections and such control mechanism shall be provided with a fusible section (melting point not over 220°F.) which will cause the internal valve to close automatically in case of fire.

(d) All container inlets and outlets, except safety relief valves, liquid level gauging devices, and pressure gauges, shall be labeled to designate whether they communicate with vapour or liquid space. Labels may be on valves.

(e) Each container shall be equipped with a suitable pressure gauge.

3.3. PIPING AND FITTINGS

(a) All piping, tubings and fittings shall be securely mounted and protected against damage and breakage.

(b) All ferrous threaded fittings and threaded pipe shall be designed for a minimum working pressure of 250 p.s.i.g.

3.4. SAFETY DEVICES

(a) The discharge from safety relief valves shall be vented away from the container and upward and unobstructed to the open air in such a manner as to prevent any impingement of escaping gas upon the container; loose fitting rain caps shall be used. Size of discharge lines from safety relief valves shall be not smaller than the nominal size of the relief valve outlet connection. Suitable provision shall be made for draining condensate which may accumulate in the discharge pipe.

(b) Any portion of piping between tank and pump inlet or any wet hose which at any time may be closed at each end should be provided with relief valve to prevent excessive pressure developing.

(c) If tank filling connections are located at a distance of more than 20 feet from the truck, the pump discharge shall be provided with an excess flow valve to prevent escape of liquid in the event of hose or connection failure beyond the pump.

3.6. TRANSFER OF LIQUIDS

(a) LOADING TRUCK, TRAILER, AND SEMI-TRAILER CONTAINERS. Truck, trailer, and semi-trailer containers shall be loaded by weight, by meter, or by suitable liquid level gauging device.

(b) Pumps or compressors shall be designed for use with LP-Gas and shall be installed as follows:

1. They shall be properly protected and may be mounted upon liquefied petroleum gas tank trailers, trucks, or semi-trailers with driving power provided by the truck motor power take-off, separate internal combustion engine, hand, mechanical, hydraulic or electrical means.

2. The pumps, except constant speed centrifugal pumps, shall be equipped with suitable pressure actuated by-pass valves permitting flow from pump discharge to pump suction or back to container when the pump discharge pressure rises above a pre-determined point. Pump discharge from positive displacement pumps shall also be equipped with a spring-loaded safety valve of non-leaking type, set at a pressure not to exceed 35 per cent higher than the pre-determined setting of the by-pass valve.

3.7. MOUNTING CONTAINERS ON TRUCK, SEMI-TRAILER OR TRAILER VEHICLE.

(a) A suitable "stop" or "stops" shall be mounted on the trucks, semi-trailer or trailer or on the container, in such a way that the container shall not be dislodged from its mounting due to the vehicle coming to a sudden stop. Back slippage shall also be prevented by proper methods.

(b) A suitable "hold down" device shall be provided which will anchor the container at one or more places on each side of the container to the truck, semi-trailer or trailer frame so as to minimize loosening due to vibration.

3.8. ELECTRICAL EQUIPMENT AND LIGHTING

(a) Tank trucks, tank trailers, and tank semi-trailers, shall not be equipped with any artificial light other than electricity. Lighting circuits shall have suitable over-current protection (fuses or automatic circuit breakers); the wiring shall have sufficient carrying capacity and mechanical strength, and shall be suitable secured, insulated and protected against physical damage.

3.9. TRAILERS AND SEMI-TRAILERS

(a) All trailers shall be firmly and securely attached to the vehicle drawing them by means of suitable draw-bars, supplemented by safety chains.
